

What Other Editors Have To Say

WRONG ASSUMPTIONS

Considerable of the objection to the proposed amendment to the constitution that will be voted upon next fall and for which signatures are now being sought, seems to be based upon what the amendment does not intend to do rather than upon what it does intend to do.

The amendment, if adopted, will permit a county to adopt or change its government according to its needs, a right that is enjoyed by cities. It does not force a county to change and does not prescribe the form of government it must adopt if it changes. Whether it shall change at all and what changes it will make is entirely up to the people of the county and no one else.

It does not affect townships or school districts. Their organization remains as they are. While there has been talk of combining these into larger units, this amendment neither encourages nor permits such a change. There is nothing to fear on that score.

There is a growing feeling that the county government that fitted conditions in the oxcart days is strangely out of place with the changes that have come in transportation and with the growth of cities, that is too cumbersome and expensive. Detroit is pretty much of Wayne county. Its council consists of nine members while the Wayne county board of supervisors numbers 148.

The amendment will go on the ballot by petition because the legislature was afraid to pass it, afraid of the people, afraid they might misinterpret the privilege. The effort to place the amendment on the ballot is the answer of the people, that they would like to have the privilege of changing their form of county government should they see fit to do so.—Ann Arbor Tribune.

THE DOG NUISANCE

From one of our citizens who is interested in gardens comes a protest against dogs running about and destroying or marring seeded tracts. The dog nuisance is one that is acute and should have attention, not only because of dogs trespassing on other's property but because of the danger that has been proved to be brought about from rabies during the past four or five years. The damage done by dogs has been considerable and ought to be removed.

Another thing about this dog nuisance is the teeth that has been put into the new law. Supervisors and assessors have been taking a census of dogs (charging 20-cents for each dog) and turning the lists to the county treasurer where the list stays. The new law makes it mandatory for the supervisors and assessors to make the census and the compensation is but 10 cents for each dog. Then the county treasurer is compelled by the law to make a comparison between the lists furnished from each supervisor or assessor to determine how many paid license fees on their dog. If the treasurer finds that any person has neglected or refused to pay the license, it's mandatory upon him to turn a list of such persons to the sheriff. The law requires that the sheriff either collect the license fee from the owner or kill the dog and if he neglects or refuses to do so the law makes it an act of nonfeasance in office on his part and subjects him to removal from office. The dog act is going to be more than a joke hereafter.—Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

I AM A CANDIDATE

We always try to serve our readers and realizing that about one out of three is thinking seriously of running for the Legislature this year, we offer the following suggestion as to a form for announcing candidacies:

To the voters of the 101st Legislative district:

The fellows I owe money to are pushing me a little harder than usual, so I have decided to run for the Legislature, as I understand you can't sue a Member during the session.

I have qualified by attending church, lodge, and all auction sales and funerals during the last six months and calling everyone by their first name, or else someone else's first name. I have kissed so many babies I wore out two dozen handkerchiefs wiping the milk out of my whiskers.

If elected I will abolish all taxes in my district and let someone else pay them. I will vote borrow all the money possible, on the understanding it won't be paid back while I am in office.

I will also see to it that this fair county of ours has better roads, better bridges and some kind of a new State institution. I was a rank prohibitionist up to a couple of years ago and I still agree that those who don't drink whiskey shouldn't, but I believe the price of whiskey is too high and the quality too low. I will tend to that if elected.

I will fearlessly do my part in putting the Governor in the hole on every possible occasion so that he will get all the blame for any mistakes that are made, and I will sneak out of the House Chamber whenever I can on roll calls.

I will try to uphold the traditions of this district in the little sessions that take place in the late hours and will do most of my work as a member of the "committee on spots," be it poker, rummy, black jack or red dog.

When the session is over I will come home and tell tales of my accomplishments that will make Paul Bunyan ashamed of himself. For all these reasons I respectfully solicit your support.

Respectfully yours,

ISAIAH LOTT.

Printers Holding Code Meeting Here

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, 21 COUNTIES TO BE REPRESENTED

Publishers and printers of 21 counties in Michigan serving under the Graphic Arts code, will hold a meeting of the 5th district of the Graphic Arts code in Grayling tomorrow (Friday), beginning at 1:00 o'clock p. m.

A. H. Weber, publisher of the Cheboygan Observer, is the district chairman and will have charge of the meeting. It is expected that there will be members of the Regional code authority, under whose jurisdiction all newspaper publishers and printers of Michigan except those in the metropolitan areas of Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint, will be present to assist in carrying out the plans before the meeting.

The area to be represented at the meeting is known as the fifth district and is composed of the following counties:

Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Isco, Alcona, Oscoda, Crawford, Kalamazoo, Grand Traverse, Benzie, Leelanau, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Emmett. Arrangements have been made to hold the meeting in the club rooms over the Hanson Hardware, the use of which has been offered complimentary.

CWA Aids In Construction Work

Lansing, May 13.—The extent to which the Civil Works Administration served to aid Michigan's conservation program during the past year is indicated by reports submitted to the Department of Conservation, showing the various improvements, their stage of completion and the expenditures required.

The nature of its projects made the Department's program admirably suited to the purposes of the CWA, it is shown, affording more than 1,100,000 man hours of employment to hundreds of men in every section of the state.

Fish Division projects, the reports reveal, resulted in the expenditure in wages and salaries of more than $278,000 for 483,000 man hours of employment, $19,476.58 for teams, trucks and equipment and $80,469.62 for material.

The Division's expansion and improvement program included construction of a beautiful new community building, vista, tool-house and garage on state real-estate property at Hillsdale, now 75 per cent complete; a new colonial-type hatchery building at Harrietta, Wexford county, 50 per cent complete March 31, and a 100-trough hatchery building at Paris, Mecosta county, 99 per cent under way on a hatchery building residence, garage, new ponds and landscaping at Wolf Lake hatchery, Kalamazoo county, besides repairs to existing ponds.

A fish hatchery building at Watersmeet, Gogebic county, is 50 per cent complete and a trout feeding station, Cooks Run, Iron county, 80 per cent complete. Other projects are: Improvements at Lydell Fish hatchery and Belmont rearing ponds, Kent county, 50 to 75 per cent complete; trout feeding station, Benzie county, extensions and improvements, 60 per cent complete; Thompson hatchery, Schoolcraft county, residence, eight dams and five raceways, 75 per cent complete; Hastings hatchery, Barry county, three new ponds, 80 per cent; Baldwin trout feeding station, Lake county, two new ponds, roads, and landscaping, 70 per cent; Benton Harbor hatchery, Berrien county, 11 ponds rehabilitated and roads built, all complete; Sturgeon-River trout feeding station, Cheboygan county, bridges, dams and ponds, 50 per cent; Fenton and Oakland and Genesee counties, bass and bluegill rearing ponds, 35 to 60 per cent.

(Grayling Trout hatchery seems to have been forgotten entirely as no improvements are listed, and we wonder why).

The loud weeping you hear in the next room is by Al Smith, who has just learned that Fr. Coughlin has been caught with more than thirty pieces of silver.

I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see a man who lives in it so that his place will be proud of him.—Abraham Lincoln.

Stalking the Dandelion

A Fashion Parade Wed. May 23rd

The Ladies Aid of Michelson Memorial church are sponsoring a Fashion Parade to be given at the church Wednesday evening, May 23rd, at 8 o'clock.

Old and modern clothes will be on display. Some as old as 1880 will be worn by intriguing models. Everyone will be interested in knowing who wore some of the lovely old and new creations.

Music appropriate to the age the gowns were worn will be played as the models parade before you.

Tickets will be 25c and may be purchased at the drug stores or from canvassers.

Dance Season Opens At Houghton Lake

RUSTIC DANCE PALACE RE-NEW ACTIVITY SATURDAY AND SUNDAY NIGHTS

Dance fans will be interested to know of the spring season dances at the Rustic Dance Palace at Houghton Lake which will be in full swing next Saturday and Sunday nights, May 19th and 20th.

The favorite dance spot of the north, the "Rustic" is offering this season some of the finest entertainment in dance bands. For the opening dance, Larry Fuller presents "Kip" Frazer and his Michiganders, an eight piece orchestra with many doubles, singers and entertainers. Park plan dancing will prevail throughout the spring vacation schedule, which includes every Saturday and Sunday night during May and June, with two special dances during the Decoration Day period, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The next time you become discouraged it might not be a bad plan to remember that you don't have to play with the Detroit Tigers.

Camp Higgins

An average of better than 500,000 trees daily have been shipped from the nursery during the past few days. Much of the work is done by the COC men of this company.

Lieut. J. D. Flewelling from Union City arrived Saturday at Camp Higgins Lake, where he will be stationed.

Lieut. J. D. Hartley has agreed to coach a group in wrestling. Some huskies from neighboring camps are looking for competition, and Fife Lake has already challenged Co. 672 to send forth its best men.

Sunday was Mother's Day and special efforts were made by Capt. G. E. Murphy, company commander, to have each man write home for the occasion.

Thursday night of this week the Roscommon band will play a concert, commencing at eight o'clock. This is the second time within the past few months that the Roscommon musicians have entertained at the Higgins Lake camp. Mr. DeLaMater, one of the local experienced woodsmen, talked for the assembly last week on "Things a Woodsman Should Know."

A refrigerator was built last week between the kitchen and the mess hall. This was an improvement badly needed, as no refrigeration was available at the camp.

"The Seventh Doctor" is the title of a one-act play that officers of this and a few nearby camps will prepare for the near future.

Considerable interest is being shown in a class of forestry recently begun at this camp and attendance at the meetings has been good. Instruction is being directed by Raymond Taggart, assistant to the educational adviser.

Mrs. L. P. Vane, of Chicago, is the guest of her husband, the district commander, for a few days.

NOTICE To the PUBLIC.

Under authority of Regulation T-1, paragraphs E and H of the Secretary of Agriculture, all Federal land within the Huron National Forest in the State of Michigan is hereby designated as an area of extreme fire hazard.

All persons are hereby forbidden to build camp fires on any part of said area, without first obtaining a permit from a Forest Officer.

All persons are hereby forbidden to smoke on any part of said area, except at designated camp sites or at improved places of habitation.

Violation of this order is punishable by Federal Law which provides a fine up to Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for one year, or both.

This order shall be effective from May 10, 1934 to June 1, 1934.

Your cooperation in preventing forest fires by compliance with this order is requested.

The above order was issued by Regional Forester E. W. Tinker at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on May 10, 1934.

Your attention is called to the provisions of the above regulation, and your earnest cooperation is requested.

PAUL D. KELLETER,
Forest Supervisor.

Junior Prom Tomorrow Night

You are very cordially invited to be guests of the Juniors at the annual Junior Prom to take place tomorrow evening at the school gym. Today and tomorrow last minute details are being taken care of so that when the hour for the party arrives everything will be in readiness for this most pleasant of the school's social affairs.

For music the Juniors have coming the Varsity Vagabonds of Cheboygan, who have pleased dance crowds here on former occasions. Attractive decorations in blue and silver, the Senior colors, are sure to add a lot to the party. Sam Cooley is overseeing the decorating.

During the evening the hosts will serve punch and wafers to their guests and there will be dancing from 9:30 to 1:30.

Kenneth Hoesti is president of the class, Clara Atkinson, secretary, and Jean Peterson, treasurer and with the other members of the class are responsible this year for this party that is being given for the pleasure of the seniors.

Olivet Orchestra To Play Over WTAM

OLIVET ORCHESTRA TO PLAY OVER STATION WTAM

Olivet, May 14.—Michigan, known the world over for motor manufacturing and summer recreation, may now claim another distinction. It is the only state in America having an amateur symphony orchestra which has been invited to broadcast over a national radio hook-up.

The Olivet College Symphony Orchestra, a group of student musicians under the direction of Pedro Paz, is to go on the air over the red network of the National Broadcasting Company on May 19, at 11 a. m., e. s. t., the program originating from WTAM, Cleveland. The students will play Spanish Rhapsody by Chabrier, Prelude to Die Meistersinger by Wagner, Figaro's Hochzeit by Mozart, Perpetuum Mobile by Johann Strauss, and Praeludium by Jarnfelt.

The broadcast is not the first which Paz and his student musicians have played. They made their national radio debut from WTAM last year.

Paz, a native of Ecuador, came to Olivet as orchestra leader and violin teacher 13 years ago, following 10 years study in London and Brussels. While at Olivet he has won the affection and approbation, not only of students, faculty members and alumni of the college, but also of professional musicians.

The radio program will be heard at Olivet by three hundred high school students from Michigan and northern Indiana and Illinois, as a part of the entertainment in connection with Olivet Day, when prep students are guests of the college.

Don't Pick Up Fawns In Woods

Spring is here with its new crop of deer fawns. Many of them, no doubt, are already trying to get accustomed to their wild surroundings.

If during the spring and summer months you see a fawn alone in the woods, apparently deserted by its mother, you may find yourself tempted to take it home.

Don't do it, says the Game Division, Department of Conservation. Chances are the fawn isn't lost nor has it been abandoned. In all probability its mother is not far away and will return in due time to claim her offspring.

State law forbids the capture and possession of deer fawns as well as the young of other forms of wild life without substantial reason and authorization from the Department of Conservation.

If there is good reason to believe that a fawn is an orphan, however, the matter should be referred to the local conservation officer, who will use his own judgment in the case.

New Buicks At Lower Prices

Flint, Mich., May 13.—A new line of Buick motor cars, priced in the low medium bracket, will be introduced Saturday in Buick dealers' showrooms throughout the United States and Canada.

The new cars, of traditional Buick design and construction, invade a price field hitherto untouched by Buick and open up for this veteran unit of General Motors a new and extensive market. Production in volume already is under way at the company's plants and adequate stocks of the cars are now in the hands of dealers. The new line will be designated the Series 40 Buick.

The price range will be from $795 for the standard business coupe to $925 for the five-passenger, four-door club sedan. These are the lowest prices ever placed on Buick motor cars.

On a 117-inch wheelbase chassis, the new line includes five body types at the following F.O.B. prices: five-passenger, four-door club sedan with built-in trunk, $925; two-passenger business coupe, $795; four-passenger sport coupe, $855; five-passenger four-door sedan, $895; five-passenger touring sedan, $885.

Brilliant performance and economy are outstanding features. Powered with a Buick straight eight, valve-in-head engine developing 93 horse-power, the new cars are capable of speeds up to 85 miles an hour and will accelerate from 10 to 60 miles an hour in 21 seconds. Fuel economy is 16 miles per gallon of gasoline at cruising speed of 55 miles an hour.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends and Rev. and Mrs. Juhl for their sympathy, kindness and floral offerings during the sickness and death of our husband and father.

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving: How much more smoothly a car travels with genuine, fully-enclosed Knee-Action.

How much more comfortably it handles, with shock-proof steering. How much more restfully you ride, in a Fisher Body car. How much more safely you drive, with cable-controlled brakes.

And how much finer performance and better economy are secured from an overhead-valve Six! In other words, Chevrolet engineers know for sure that the Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field.
They know it—thousands of owners know it —and now we want you to know it too, before you make your final choice of a low-priced car.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

Thursday, May 18, 1911

C. W. Miller, of Lovella, sent down a two-year old root of Mammoth clover Monday, which measured four feet in length, which he pulled from the AuSable Ranch Co.'s meadow, on the so-called plains. A prime crop was cut from the land last season, and promises better.

The May payment of the Primary School fund to this county is $7.00 per capital aggregating as follows: Grayling $4,452; South Branch, $765; Frederic, $1,547; Beaver Creek, $477.50; Maple Forest, $714.80. Total $7,646.60.

Miss Pansy Havens, who has been in Washington, D. C., for several years has been enjoying a visit here for the past two weeks, with her father's family and friends, but it is a question whether her pleasure equals that of her friends here. She will remain about two weeks longer, and then goes to Colorado Springs, Colo., to take charge of the large hospital in that city.

Mrs. Cora M. Jenkins, of Los Angeles, Cal., formerly of Detroit, and a frequent visitor here at the home of her father, A. L. Pond, has been a welcome visitor to many friends for the past two weeks, goes to Chicago today to meet a lady friend with whom after a brief visit in Washington, Philadelphia and New York, she will embark on June for an extended European trip.

Mercy Hospital Dedicated

The new Grayling hospital was dedicated Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock by Rt. Rev. Father Richter, bishop of the diocese of Grand Rapids. Bishop Richter was assisted by Rev. Father Caldwell, Rev. Father Reiss and Rev. Father Fredericks, and Rev. Father DuSette of Standish.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the cornerstone of the building was laid by Rev. Father Robert W. Brown, of Grand Rapids after which on account of the inclement weather, the assembly led by the Citizens Band, marched to the opera house where addresses were made by R. Hanson, of Grayling; Dr. Curnalia, of Roscommon, and Father Brown, of Grand Rapids.

The building has been in use for the last month and already 10 patients are being treated. It was erected by subscriptions from men all over the county and was afterwards turned over to the Sisters of Mercy for their management, which insures its success.

This College for Girls Has a Bar!

IT SOUNDS startling to say that a girl student can amble right up to a bar in her college and order a drink. However, this new bar in Barnard college, New York City, serves only milk, which the girls buy for three cents a drink.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

AN UNEXPECTED FRIEND

WHILE Redcoat the Tanager was telling Peter Rabbit of his dreadful accident, Mrs. Tanager was flying about in the treetops nearby, calling anxiously. She did not look at all like Redcoat, for she was dressed almost wholly in light olive green and greenish yellow. "He can't even fly up just a little way so as to get off the ground!" she cried anxiously. "Isn't it dreadful, Peter Rabbit? We've just got our nest half built, and I don't know what I shall do if anything happens to Redcoat. Oh, dear, here comes somebody! Hide, Redcoat! Hide!" Poor Redcoat, with the old look of terror in his eyes, hurried along, trying to find something under which to hide. But there was no way of hiding that wonderful scarlet coat. Peter heard the sound of heavy footsteps, and looking back saw Farmer Brown's Boy coming. "Don't be afraid, Redcoat," he whispered. "It's Farmer Brown's Boy, and I'm sure he won't hurt you. Perhaps he can help you." Then he scampered off a short distance and sat up to watch what would happen.

Meanwhile Mrs. Tanager Came and Talked to Him and Fussed About Him.

Of course, Farmer Brown's Boy saw Redcoat. No one with any eyes at all could have helped seeing him because of that wonderful scarlet coat. He saw, too, by the way Redcoat was acting, that he was in trouble. He understood instantly that something was wrong with one wing, and running forward he caught Redcoat.

"You poor little thing. You poor beautiful little creature," said Farmer Brown's Boy softly as he saw the cruel twig sticking through Redcoat's shoulder. "We'll have to get that out right away," continued Farmer Brown's Boy, stroking Redcoat ever so gently. Somehow at that gentle touch Redcoat lost much of his fear and a little hope sprang into his heart. This was no enemy, but a friend. With his knife Farmer Brown's Boy cut off the twig on the upper side of the wing. Then, doing his best to be careful and to hurt as little as possible, he worked the other part of the twig out from the under side. Carefully he examined the wing to see if any bones were broken. None was, and after holding Redcoat a few minutes, he carefully set him up in a tree and withdrew a short distance. Redcoat sat there for some time as if fearful of trying that injured wing. Meanwhile Mrs. Tanager came and talked to him and fussed about him and coaxed him and made as much of him as if he were a baby.

After a while he ventured to try his wing and found that he could fly. Then he and Mrs. Tanager disappeared in the Green Forest. "I knew Farmer Brown's Boy would help him, and I'm glad he found him," cried Peter happily and started for the dear Old Briar Patch.

Cakes That Win Compliments

WHAT an honest sense of achievement we have when our cake receives that sincere compliment—"another piece please!"

Such cakes have a delicate flavor and fragrance, with a fine, moist, tender texture which is described by judges of cake as "velvety crumb."

Each of these cakes is a "velvety crumb" cake if you will follow directions carefully:

Lady Baltimore Cake

3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons combination baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1 1/4 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
3 eggs whites, stiffly beaten

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt; sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with liquid, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring; fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 20 minutes. Spread Lady Baltimore Filling between layers and Lady Baltimore Frosting over cake. Double recipe to make three 10-inch layers.

Lady Baltimore Frosting and Filling

1 1/4 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon light corn syrup
1/2 cup boiling water
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

6 figs, chopped
1/2 cup raisins, chopped
1/2 cup pecan or walnut meats, chopped

Combine sugar, corn syrup, and water. Bring quickly to a boil, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly, without stirring, until a small amount of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water, or spins a long thread when dropped from tip of spoon (240°F.). Pour syrup in fine stream over egg whites, beating constantly. Add vanilla. Continue beating with a rotary egg beater 10 to 15 minutes, or until frosting is cool and of right consistency to spread. Use wooden spoon when too stiff for beater. For filling, add enough frosting to fruit and nuts to make a filling that will spread easily. Spread between layers. Spread remaining frosting on top and sides of cake. Makes enough filling and frosting to spread between layers and top and sides of Lady Baltimore Cake.

Hungarian Cream Cake

3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons combination baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/4 cups heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add sugar gradually to eggs, and beat well. Add flour, alternately with cream, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in a greased pan, 8x8x2 inches, in moderate oven (350°F.) 50 minutes. Spread with your favorite chocolate frosting.

William Green Says Labor Must Force 30-Hour Week; Gen. Johnson and Business Leaders Discuss Future of the NRA.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NOTICE is served on the nation that the 30-hour work week will be forced on industry, by organized labor by the use of widespread strikes, if necessary.

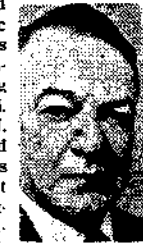

William Green

New Deal has failed to remedy the unemployment situation, since there are still more than ten millions without jobs. The 30-hour week, he says, is the only remedy available since if all industries not yet under codes are brought under them, the resulting re-employment will not give work to these millions. Just before Green issued this statement, President Roosevelt had apparently declined to support the Connery bill legislating a 30-hour week for all industry; and General Johnson has recently abandoned a 10 per cent reduction in working hours.

REPRESENTATIVE BEITRAND SNEEL, of New York, minority leader in the house, says the period of emergency is over, so he and the rest of the Republican leaders feel free now to demand that the emergency laws and bureaus be dispensed with. An amazing phase of the controversy over the New Deal thus comes to light. The opponents of the administration virtually concede that President Roosevelt and his advisers have won their fight against the depression and declare that normal conditions have been restored or are at hand. But the President and the other New Dealers deny that the battle is over and assert that their recovery measures must be continued in force. At the same time they insist that they are not seeking to change the American system to state socialism, collectivism, communism, fascism, and that what they are accomplishing is "evolution, not revolution."

Thus a most peculiar situation in politics is created, and the man in the street is waiting interestedly to see how it will be handled in the coming campaign.

LEADERS of business from all parts of the country gathered in Washington for the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and naturally the topic for discussion was the NRA, concerning which varying views were offered. President Henry I. Harriman declared that industry is willing to accept the President's suggestion of a permanent NRA if modifications and restrictions are placed on the broad authority granted Mr. Roosevelt during the emergency last year.

Gen. Johnson

On the other hand, Silas H. Strawn, former head of the chamber, attacked what he termed the abandonment of a scheme of government which has made "us happier and more prosperous than any other nation." He called for a three-way action by Mr. Roosevelt:

Balancing of all governmental budgets, a definite announcement that there will be no more requests for emergency legislation and "no more tinkering with the dollar," and a revision of the securities act and proposed stock-exchange legislation.

At a dinner Gen. Hugh S. Johnson was the chief guest and after his address he submitted to an inquisition on the present and prospective policies of the NRA. Asked directly if the principles embodied in the recovery act were to be permanent, he replied:

"If there has been any good demonstrated by the recovery act, it will live and it ought to live; if there has been any bad it will die and it ought to die."

Admitting that there has been a lapse in public interest and enthusiasm, the general said a new campaign to make the nation Blue Eagle conscious was being mapped. He also admitted that the controversy between labor and industry is becoming more acute. He expressed the opinion that the ideal relationship between labor and management had been worked out in the bituminous coal industry.

Generally, the member of the chamber of commerce agreed that the first year under the NRA had brought economic improvement. Some of their suggestions for speeding the recovery program were:

Co-ordination of all land, water, and air transportation under a federal commission and a cessation of federal subsidies for inland waterways.

Another $2,000,000,000 for public works in order to help the lagging heavy industries.

Relaxation of the present rigid security act and a softening of the pending stock exchange bill.

Approval by congress of the President's tariff bargaining plans as a means to reviving foreign trade.

Abandonment by the administration of its demand that industry cut its working hours 10 per cent and raise its pay rolls 10 per cent.

Control of bituminous coal production by a system of quotas and penalty taxes on overproduction.

JUST a few hours before General Johnson had spoken in high praise of the bituminous coal settlement, Federal District Judge Charles I. Dawson in Louisville held unconstitutional the code arranged for that industry, as applied to local business, and granted a temporary injunction restraining the government from forcing the code upon unwilling operators in western Kentucky.

The operators, who claim to have $50,000,000 invested in the mines, chiefly in Hopkins, Muhlenberg, Union and Webster counties, protested vigorously when the code recently was formulated providing for $4.80 a day for seven hours work. Prior to that the scale was $4 for eight hours work. Most of their mines were shut down more than a month ago.

WHEN the senate committee on privileges and elections opened the hearings on the demands that Senators Huey P. Long and his political follower, John H. Overton of Louisiana be deprived of their seats, the political groups that have been seeking especially to oust the "kingfish" remained in the background and left it to the women of Louisiana to make the lead in the fight. These women are headed by Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, who has been indefatigable in the campaign against Long and his crew.

The women were represented as counsel by Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, wartime acting judge advocate general, who has pending against Long a suit for libel. His opening statement dispelled the idea that Long's opponents would be satisfied to let Overton remain in the senate if the "kingfish" were thrown out. "We expect to prove," said General Ansell, "the charge that there was fraud in the 1932 Louisiana primaries sufficient to vitiate the election of Senator Overton; that Senator Overton was an active perpetrator of that fraud; that Senators Overton and Long were designers and instigators of that fraud."

WILLIAM H. WOODIN, who was President Roosevelt's first secretary of the treasury, has passed away, succumbing to the throat affection that forced his resignation from the cabinet last December. In his death the country loses a business man of the highest type and a gentleman who had the respect and affection of all who knew him. He became president of the American Car and Foundry company in 1916, and also was president of the American Locomotive company. His interests were varied, for he was musician, composer, art lover and student of government as well as leader in industry. He was long a personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt and, though a Republican, was one of the first selections for the President's cabinet and worked hard so long as his health permitted.

EXACTLY 38 years from the day Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in Manila bay, the legislature of the Philippines accepted the new offer of the United States for the independence of the islands as embodied in the Tydings-McDuffie act.

Under the terms of the measure, the Philippines will obtain complete independence in 1946. During the intervening years a commonwealth government, to be set up probably next year, will govern the islands.

With acceptance of the act the Philippines ceased to be nationals of the United States and became subject to the rigid immigration laws. Only 50 may enter this country yearly. The status of an estimated 60,000 Filipinos in the United States as well as the international status of the entire island population during the transition period remains in doubt, due to the wording of the measure.

MAJORITY and minority reports of the investigation into Dr. William A. Wirt's "red plot" stories were made to the house, and they were just what had been expected. The majority of the committee held that Wirt's charges were untrue and that his companions at the famous dinner party did not make the statements he had attributed to them. Representatives McGugin and Lehigh, the Republican minority members of the committee, characterized the investigation as a "reputation of all precedents" and indicative of intentions to "suppress all information" which might directly involve the brain trust.

THE senate by acclamation accepted the conference report on the 1934 revenue measure, which provides for an increase in taxes of $417,000,000. The Couzens amendment for a 10 per cent increase in income tax, which the house rejected, was cut out.

WHEN the administration's bill for reduction of cotton production was under consideration its opponents argued in vain that it would work grievous injustice to thousands of tenant farmers and "croppers" in the South. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace now finds this prediction was well founded, his information coming from Dr. Calvin B. Hooker of Duke University whom he requested to make an investigation. Mr. Wallace now plans the establishment of a compliance board to inquire into complaints of tenants. At the same time the enforcement of cotton reduction contracts will be tightened to prevent farm owners from ousting tenant farmers and farm workers because of the reduced amount of production.

SPEAKING to about two million Germans at the Templehof airport outside of Berlin, Chancellor Hitler defiantly denied Germany's war guilt and declared the reich has been a victim of the war. He warned the world again that Germany no longer was willing to accept discrimination against her by the former allied powers, and declared that day of "spineless submission" was at an end.

"DEAD" for more than a year, the Austrian parliament came to life long enough to approve, by a vote of 74 to 2, the new Constitution and a mass of laws decreed by Chancellor Dollfuss since March 8, 1933. The new Constitution abolishes parliaments and also does away with trial by jury.

JUST before midnight of May 6, George V began the twenty-fifth year of his reign as king of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the sea and emperor of India. By his own choice the anniversary was not observed by special ceremonies, but preparations are already under way for a celebration of his silver jubilee in 1935 that will rival that of Queen Victoria's golden jubilee in 1887. In his 24 years on the throne George has earned the high esteem of the world and has proved himself a real leader and, in the minds of the British, all that a king should be. He is democratic, human and progressive and a genuine sportsman, but upholds with dignity the traditions of the court.

ATTORNEY GENERAL CUMMINGS feels that the forces of the Department of Justice are inadequate to cope with the gangsters, and will ask congress for about $2,000,000 in excess of the $28,700,778 authorized the department for the fiscal year 1935. Next year's appropriation is the lowest granted the Justice department since the war.

With the additional money the attorney general contemplates purchasing for the division's agents a fleet of high-powered automobiles, a few armored cars and ample guns and ammunition. Likewise the force of investigators will be added to, and there is a possibility that the division's 24 field offices will be increased.

FEDERAL agents believe they have uncovered a great ring of crooks for the handling of money derived from kidnappings, bank robberies and swindles. They already have arrested a number of men and are hurrying to get others before they are put out of the way by members of the gang, as has been done before. The ring, it is said, has been operating in Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Kansas City and other cities. One of the first men taken into custody was John J. McLaughlin, formerly a state legislator and a political boss in Chicago, suspected of being a leader in the disposal of the "hot money." The specific charge against him is conspiracy in the kidnapping of Edward Bremer, St. Paul banker, for whose release a ransom of $200,000 was paid. The federal agents were diligently searching for William Elmer Mead, a notorious crook, who is thought to have directed the kidnappers.

McLaughlin confessed that he had handled some of the Bremer ransom money, and his son was arrested with part of it in his pocket.

Merrie England Lives Again in New Fair

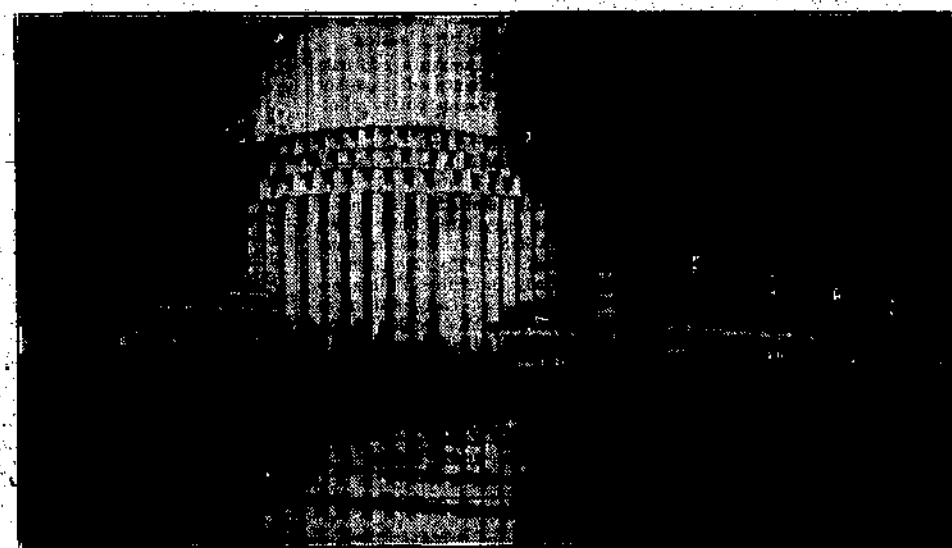

Merrie England of the sixteenth century will come to life on the "Street of Foreign Villages," a new feature of the new Chicago World's Fair which opens May 26. Many buildings famous in poetry and prose will be reproduced in this and the fourteen other foreign villages now under construction. Visitors to the new Fair may accomplish a world tour by strolling through these charming and authentic reproductions of old Europe. There will be 84 miles of free exhibits, all new and startling. Music, dancing and fireworks will be daily features in addition to exhibits of new scientific development. All cost will be kept very low. The average visitor last summer spent only $1.17 per day, inside the grounds. Week-end trips offer inexpensive and enjoyable excursions for people living within a few hundred miles of Chicago.

World's Largest Fountain New Fair Feature

The largest fountain ever built will be the outstanding single feature of the new World's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. Its flow of water will be enough to supply a city of 1,000,000, and its spectacular lighting, in five colors, will use an electrical load sufficient for a city of 150,000. Fifteen foreign villages, music, fireworks and free entertainment will be among the major attractions of the Fair. There are 84 miles of free exhibits. Cost to visitors will be low. Reduced rail and hotel rates are in effect. Chicago is easily accessible by automobile through fourteen major highways. A program of special interest with music, parades, fireworks and special features has been arranged for opening day.

Ford's Drama of Transportation at New Fair

In the largest exhibit ever built or an exposition, the Ford Motor Company will tell the complete story of transportation from the beginning of time, in the new Ford's Fair which opens in Chicago May 26. A special part of the exhibit will demonstrate Henry Ford's own solution to the farmer's problem. With 84 miles of free exhibits, the new Fair will again be a spectacular international attraction. Special attention will be paid to the comfort and convenience of visitors. Low railroad and bus rates, and low rates in Chicago hotels will cut the cost of a World's Fair vacation over last year.

Don W. Young, local manager for the Western Union Telegraph company has been transferred to the Battle Creek office. He left today for Lansing where he will take a few days training before assuming duty in his new assignment. The local office will be taken over by Mr. Oliver Perry of Louisville, Kentucky.

"After patiently waiting for several days, license to sell liquor by the glass was received this morning," said Carl Sorenson, "and we're now open for business. A complete line of liquors, beers and wines will be on sale in the grill. There will be home cooking and special lunches served. Next Saturday night will be the Grand Opening at which time there will be special lunches and other attractions and everyone is invited."

Our issue of last week carried a news item saying that the local re-employment office would be closed. Mr. Hewitt, local manager, says this is a mistake and that the office will continue to be open for at least the remainder of this month.

Possibly longer if the board of supervisors make appropriation for continuing the work. W. H. Hill, district welfare officer came here last week intending to close the office and move it to Roscomon. If he changed his mind later, he failed to let us know otherwise the report would not have been published.

Children whose father were killed or disabled on the poppy-studded battle fields of France will be among those benefitted by "Poppy Day" Saturday, May 26th, when replicas of the French poppies will be worn throughout the United States in tribute to the World War dead. The welfare of veterans' children is a constantly expanding responsibility of the American Legion Auxiliary. Injuries and diseases of the war are taking a steady toll from the ranks of the veterans, and nearly every veteran now dying or becoming disabled has dependent children. Every penny of the dimes, quarters and dollars dropped into the contribution boxes of the poppy workers Saturday, above the bare cost of the materials in the flowers, will go to the disabled and the children. When the people of Grayling contribute for their poppies, they can be sure they are giving directly to the welfare of the war's living victims.

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Hanson of Beaver Creek left first of the week for Chicago to visit relatives for a few weeks.

Henry Bousson returned to Trout Lake in the Upper Peninsula yesterday to resume his work for the Kerry & Hanson Co. interests there.

Mrs. Efner Matson left Tuesday to spend a week or ten days visiting her daughters, Misses Janet, Detroit and Elizabeth in Battle Creek.

Mrs. Carl Hanson surprised her husband Monday evening by entertaining a party of 18 friends in honor of his birthday anniversary.

Today is Nels Corwin's birthday and this evening Mrs. Corwin is entertaining the family at a dinner party in his honor. Those present will be Menno Corwin and family, Carl Hanson and George Hilton families. It's to be a surprise.

Band practice of Grayling Band Monday evening turned out to be a surprise farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Don Young who are leaving Grayling today. Mr. and Mrs. Young were very appreciative of the compliment and wish to thank the members of the Band for the pleasant evening.

Stanley Stephan graduates tonight from the Pharmacy department of Ferris Institute, Big Rapids. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Stephan and sisters, Mrs. Amos Hunter, Mrs. Ernest Borchers and Mrs. George Granger left this noon to be in attendance at the Commencement exercises.

Bryan Reid, 22 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Reid, of Twining, passed away at Mercy Hospital at five o'clock this morning. The young man, who was employed in Cheboygan, was brought here a week ago in a serious condition, having been ill for several days. Mr. Reid's daughter of Mrs. James Reynolds Sr., and the family have been frequent visitors here and they are grief-stricken over their loss in which they have the sympathy of their Grayling friends. Besides his parents the deceased is survived by his sister Dorothy and brother Owen. The remains are being taken to Twining this afternoon where the funeral will be held Sunday.

George Clise has resigned his position as electrical engineer for the Michigan Public Service Company, after 13 years of steady and faithful service. He says he is in need of a good rest and intends to have it for a while until he feels quite rested and in better health. During the 13 years of service he has never lost a day's time, which is a remarkable record for faithfulness. During the first 8 1/2 years of his employment at the local plant he worked for the Grayling Electric Company. Then the system was sold to the New York Engineering Management and later transferred to the Michigan Public Service Company. In all his years of activity for the Companies we have never heard a single complaint about him nor his work. Besides being an electrical engineer, he is a competent stationary engineer. Mr. Clise is to be congratulated for his splendid record and we trust that he will soon be feeling fine again and be ready to get into some active service, for he says he doesn't like to be idle.

Insull, Brought Back for Trial, Defends Himself—
Token Payments on War Debts Are Barred—Compromise Silver Bill Being Formulated.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SAMUEL INSULL, once the grand old man of public utilities, has been brought back home to be tried for his alleged role in the long period of refuge in foreign lands. His "prison ship," the Exilona, arrived off Fort Hancock, N. J., and Insull was taken off at open sea by the United States coast guard cutter Hudson, which landed him quickly. After an automobile ride to Princeton Junction, he was put aboard a train and transported swiftly to Chicago. His son, Samuel Insull, Jr., had been permitted to join him on the Exilona and accompanied him on the trip west.

Landing on American soil, Insull appeared to recover his old time confidence. To reporters he said: "I am in America to make the most important fight of my life. I am fighting not only for freedom but for complete vindication. I have erred, but my greatest error was in underestimating the effects of the financial panic on American securities, and particularly on the companies I was trying to build."

"I worked with all my energy to save these companies. I made mistakes—but they were honest mistakes. They were errors in judgment, but not dishonest manipulations."

"Arbitrarily, I had been instructed to resign as head of these companies which I had built and which I had tried to protect."

"I was told that I was no longer needed. Tired from the fruitless struggles to save the investments of thousands of men and women, discouraged in my attempts to save the investments of my friends and associates as well as everything I had, I got out."

"No charges were brought against me until I had been away for three months. My return at that time would have further complicated the problems of the reorganization of the companies."

"The whole story has not yet been told. You only know the charges of the prosecution. Not one word has been uttered in even feeble defense of me. And it must be obvious that there also is my side of the story."

"When it is told in court, my judgment may be discredited but certainly my honesty will be vindicated."

RUSSIA has been angered by a ruling of Attorney General Cummings and there is danger that all the plans for re-establishing trade with that country will go awry. Mr. Cummings was called on to determine what nations would be barred by the Johnson act from marketing their securities in this country or in any way receiving financial assistance. This he did by announcing the six foreign nations that are not in default to the United States government on their obligations. These are Finland, Great Britain, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Latvia and Lithuania. Finland has met in full all its obligations on its war debt. The others have made token payments on recent installments.

Immediately after the attorney general's ruling was made public it was authoritatively stated in Washington that President Roosevelt had decided to accept no more token payments; therefore England and the others that have made such payments will fall into the default class on June 15, when the next payments are due. Even Finland may now default. If the nations proffer token payments they may be accepted by the treasury as "on account," but the nations will still be held in default and thus will be shut out under the new Johnson act from obtaining any government loans in the United States.

The President will inform congress, it is reported, that he desires no legislation at this time with respect to the debt question.

Soviet Russia fell in the default class because it ignored obligations of the preceding czarist and Kerensky governments. The czar sold bonds totaling $40,000,000 to America and the brief Kerensky regime borrowed $187,000,000 from the United States treasury.

AMING directly at the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Western Union company, both of which are said to have aided him, Recovery Administrator Johnson made public a drastic code for the wire communications industry prepared by his own staff. Imposition of a code is regarded to all intents the same as writing law for the industry affected, equal in scope to the authorization for licensing industry. Nothing like it has been reported to heretofore.

In the telegraph case, with all but one minority group flatly opposed to any code, the NRA is proposing to change long-standing conditions and alter the internal economy of the industry on the ground that existing conditions burden commerce and reduce employment. A date for hearings was set, after which the President was to be asked to take action.

The code, if adopted, would deprive extensive interests of financial advantages amounting to many millions of dollars; the NRA authorities declaring these are not fairly held. Among the things it would abolish are: Exclusive rights of the Western Union Telegraph company to something like $25,000,000 worth of business annually; use by many corporations of private wire circuits leased at figures alleged to be out of line with regular charges for the same volume of business, and free use of these circuits by clients of the lessees to the tune of millions of dollars worth of words each year.

SOME sort of a compromise on silver legislation that will be acceptable to both the White House and the silver bloc in congress is likely to be worked out, though Senator Borah, who wants outright re-monetization of the white metal, thought the plan being prepared would not serve.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and eight silver senators held prolonged conferences, and all but the gentleman from Idaho were fairly well satisfied. Senator King of Utah said he hoped for a bill which would nationalize silver bullion and provide for the establishment of a 25 per cent silver reserve for currency. Probably the measure will be mandatory as to policies and permissive in leaving to the discretion of the President the means of carrying out those same policies.

TO AVOID impending defeat by the senate, the President withdrew from its consideration the names of two men he had appointed to office. One was Willard L. Thorp, who had been made head of the Commerce department's bureau of foreign and domestic commerce.

The senate's objection to Mr. Thorp, who has been serving as head of the commerce bureau pending action of his nomination, was based on the fact that he once registered as a Republican in a Massachusetts primary.

The other withdrawal was of Rene A. Viosca as United States attorney for the Eastern district of Louisiana. He was opposed by Senator Huey P. Long.

ANDREW W. MELLON, the venerable and wealthy ex-secretary of the treasury and former ambassador to England, came out on top in his latest contest with the Department of Justice. The government had accused him of evading his income taxes and sought his indictment by a federal grand jury in Pittsburgh. However, the grand jury refused to return a true bill, declaring the charges were without basis.

The foreman of the jury was William Hewson, a bank clerk. Among others on the jury were five laborers, two farmers, two engineers, two mechanics, two clerks, one plumber, one carpenter, a lumber dealer, and a writer.

Mr. Mellon said: "I am of course gratified that I have been exonerated by a jury of my fellow citizens. The fact that the grand jury reached a sound conclusion, notwithstanding the unusual methods pursued in my case, is proof of the good sense and fairness of the American people."

In previous statements Mr. Mellon had charged Attorney General Cummings with playing politics "of the crudest sort," and had set forth at length his innocence, asserting he had overpaid rather than evaded his taxes.

The finding of the jury probably ended finally the affair. Mr. Cummings saying the government would not challenge the decision. It may also put an end to the not infrequent attacks on Mr. Mellon in both houses of congress.

DRASTIC reorganization of the NRA to give the federal government a permanent balance of power between large and small industries was recommended in the majority report by the Darrow board, which President Roosevelt decided not to make public in its original form but referred to three government agencies for preliminary digesting.

On the theory that the NRA has shown business incapability of self-regulation, the 5-to-1 majority report proposes to scrap all the present code authorities in favor of an entirely new set-up in which the federal government, big business and little business have equal voting representation.

Within the NRA itself there is a growing feeling that it would be better to let up on the extension and enforcement of codes for small and miscellaneous industries and reduce the NRA policy to co-operative control of hours and wages. Administrator Johnson doesn't like this, and it would also be opposed by the big industries and organized labor. The President is waiting.

HOW the League of Nations proposes to aid China was told in a long report, made public by the Nanking government, covering the arrangement made by Dr. Ludwig Rijnckman, representative in China of the league. This plan, it is supposed, led to Japan's recent statement of a policy demanding that other nations keep their hands off China. The document was politically innocuous, being chiefly the recommendations of technical advisers for projects designed to attract foreign capital to China and consolidate it as an independent nation. The list of advisers did not include any Japanese.

The chief interest in the report, from the standpoint of the United States, concerned the section devoted to cotton. It shows that China must purchase about $50,000,000 worth of raw cotton annually.

A Chinese national military and communications commission has just left Shanghai for the United States by way of Europe. Its twenty-two members are instructed to learn how China can acquire a modern war machine and methods of communication that are up to western standards.

REPORTS from Cairo, Egypt, told somewhat hastily about the fierce fighting that was going on in the Arabian peninsula where Ibn Saud, the fanatical king of Saudi Arabia, was making war on the ancient kingdom of Yemen, determined to conquer it. Already the Saudian army, which is powerful and equipped with all modern arms, had captured the Yemeni seaport Hodeida, and it was advancing to attack Sana, the capital. The war started with a border dispute.

According to the conflicting stories reaching Cairo, both sides claimed victory. One report was that the Emir Faisal, heir of Ibn Saud, had overtaken and defeated the rear guard of the retreating Yemeni army.

From Yemeni officials, however, came telegrams stating that their retreat had been halted and that the Saudian army suffered a severe defeat in a 23-hour battle. Capture of 30 armored cars, one of them undamaged, 30 guns, and 400 prisoners was claimed by the premier of Yemen, who wired that the Saudian casualties exceeded 2,000.

Because of their nearby territories in Asia and Africa, Great Britain, Italy, and France were watching the conflict with deep concern and all had warships at hand to protect their interests.

GREAT BRITAIN and Japan are on the verge of a big trade war. The British have threatened to take strong action to protect their textile export interests against increasing Japanese competition, although the British government officially declares it will do everything to maintain amicable relations with Japan. The official position in Tokyo is that Japan can take care of herself, and there was every indication that it would not yield to the British ultimatum that it must modify its trade program and tactics. The British threat was that quotas would be imposed on Japanese goods, but trade leaders in Tokyo said this would not hurt their country seriously, especially since Japan's imports from the British Isles in 1933 totaled $3,000,000 yen or little more than was exported there, $3,000,000 yen. Hence, they said, the Tokyo government would be able to make reprisals.

Trade with the British dominions is considered far more important and the Japanese are confident the dominions will not follow the mother country's lead—especially Australia, which sold to Japan in 1933 four times its purchases, and Canada, which sold seven times as much as it bought.
